MADISON GIRL WINS IN LONG SEARCH FOR LOST FAMILY-- SHE LIVED NEAR LA CROSSE

ADOPTED NEAR US IN EARLY YOUTH

MRS. WALLIS FINDS HER LOST FATHER AND BROTHERS

SISTER STILL IS MISSING

SPARTA SCHOOL DECLINES TO TELL HER WHEREABOUTS

CLUE FOUND IN WINONA

This Led Her to Aunt and Father and Newspaper "Ad" Located Brothers

MADISON, Wis., July 18.—(Special.)—Through a newspaper account, Mrs. Ernest Wallis, of this city, today met her brother, Herman Wendt at Reedsburg, who has been missing seventeen years, and she also located her younger brother, Fred, at Wonewoc, Wis. She is still seeking her sister, Emma Wendt, who was adopted by a Wisconsin family from the state school for dependent children at Sparta.

The school authorities say they know Emma's whereabouts, but they refuse to give information until the girl is 21 years old. She is now 18. Seventeen years ago, through the death of her mother, four children, Emma, 1 year old, Bertha, now Mrs. Wallis, 8 years old, Fred, 2 years, and Herman, 5 years, were all sent to the Sparta school. The father disappeared, and Bertha was adopted by a family near La Crosse and has been searching for the rest of the family since she was 15 years old. Last March on a visit to Winona, Minn., she got a clue to a Milwaukee woman who had been looking for the Wendt children, and investigation proved her to be the children's aunt, Mrs. Ritz, sister of their mother. The aunt knew the father was living at Waukesha, and a reunion with the father was brought about in April. A few weeks later she told her story to a local newspaper, resulting in the discovery of her two brothers, one of whom is already here.

When asked by long distance today concerning the Wendt case the superintendent of the Sparta school for dependent children said he was familiar with the Wendt case. He said the girl had been adopted and was in good hands He declared it was a rule of the school not to tell the whereabouts of a child when farmed out until they were eighteen, and that in cases of adoption no information of their whereabouts was divulged until they were 21 years of age. The Wendt girl is 18 and has been adopted so that it will be three years before her sister will gain any information of here whereabouts, unless she gains it elsewhere. The custom was adopted at the school, it is stated, to avoid meddling upon the part of relatives of inmates at the school.

RELAY RUNNERS AT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, O., July 18.—Dashing through a hard rain, the Y. M. C. A. New York to Chicago relay runners reached the central Y. M. C. A. here at 12:43 today, over ten hours ahead of time. Twenty-seven athletes were in readiness to take up the running to Loraine, Ohio, where other relayers will take the silver tube on the way to Toledo and Chicago. The race will halt over Sunday, either at Bellevue or Toledo, according to the roads encountered west of Cleveland. Local runners count on beating all records through northern Ohio.

THE SAENGERFEST BOOSTERS BOOST MERRILY ALONG

AUTO GOES BUMP UNDER THORNBURY'S WEIGHT

BREAKFAST WITH MR. HARDY

NEW CAR TAKES THEM TO BANGOR AND BOTANY

MR. TRIMBELL TAKES HAND

Everybody Coming to Saengerfest—Car Now at Viroqua—Come Home Tonight

JOHN HARDY FARM, La Crosse County, July 18.—(By Special Telephone to The Tribune.)—Automobile party stranded here at 5:45 this morning by breakdown of automobile. We are three miles from La Crosse. Mr. Hardy is a royal host, and as he is the whole thing here, we have circulated our advertising among him quite generally. He introduced us to a splendid breakfast, and as we closed the engagement J. Thornbury's eyes telegraphed to Harry Long the following Caesarian message:

"Veni, vidi, vici!"

The automobile crash was due to the failure to properly distribute the Saengerfest advertisers. The party consists of John Thornbury, Harry Long, F. H. Burgess and a chauffeur. Bill Taft Thornbury was placed on one end of a seat and Tom Thumb Burgess on the other, and no respectable automobile could have been expected to maintain its dignity in that sort of a teeter-totter.

We phoned immediately for another auto, and left here promptly upon its arrival.

Salem is Conquered.

WEST SALEM, Wis., July 18.—(Special Telephone to The Tribune.)—Arrived here in good trim, and elevated Publisher Trimble of the Nonpareil Journal to the office of Dodger Delegate. When last seen he was sticking a saengerfest poster to the crown of a bald-headed deacon with a hatpin. Trimble eagerly accepted the arduous duties of the office, but the populace here wants to depose him as a useless extravagance. "We are all coming to the saengerfest, anyway," they told us. Surely no party was ever treated more generously than were we at West Salem and it was with reluctance that we pulled our freight out of the delightful little city.

Bangor Is Ourn.

BANGOR—(Special to The Tribune.)—Bangor is ourn. Supervisor Davis appointed himself a committee of one to disseminate our Saengerfest literature, and Publisher W. F. Durnall, of The Independent, hung festoons of our color-splashed posters upon everything from the mayor to the old maids. Mr. Davis promises to deliver the city of Bangor at the front entrance of the saengerfest hall on the opening day, and everybody knows Mr. Davis "makes good." He will have an easy job, for the people want to go, anyway. Bangor is the host par excellence, and we would like to stick around awhile, but duty and the highway call us.

Long on Botany

Harry Long passed the time away coming up by giving Thornbury botanical lesons, but finally gave up in disgust. After listening to a dessertation upon the beauties of the corolla of the cowslip, the silk man wanted to know if the cow ever slipped out of the corral. Regarding the tulip, all Thornbury got out of the lesson was the reflection that he had always found two lips about the right number, and that he was fond of the plant individually, but couldn't stand for bouquets. Finally he played hookey, and began recognizing all the young women along the route, adroitly explaining that they were "customers of his," but it was noticeable that his "customers" were all under 30, and decidedly attractive.

Into Sparta.

SPARTA, Wis., July 18.—(Special Telephone to The Tribune.)—We're here in time for dinner, and dinner had better be on time for us. Rumors of our approach preceded us, and we were met by the town marshal. The publisher of the Democrat tipped it off to us that the mayor has hidden the key. He was under

MR. BARBER SUED IN A SMOKE CONFLICT

COMMUNICATION TO TRIBUNE FOLLOWED BY CIVIL ACTION

BATAVIAN BANK IS PLAINTIFF

Wants $500 and Injunction—Barber Will Neither Retaliate Nor Hire a Lawyer

"Where there is so much smoke, there must be some fire," would be an apt text for a comedy of industry and law which is being enacted here, owing to the enthusiasm and efficiency with which certain citizens are convinced the stack of the Modern Laundry, by W. E. Barber, "smokes up."

A few days ago it was announced that Mr. Barber had ben arrested for that Mr. Barber had been arrested for Barber corrected this through The Tribune, showing that he had not been arrested, but that he had been notified by the Batavian bank to "abate the nuisance." In his communication he took occasion to say that as soon as a small amount of coal he has in bin is used, he would use a quality to reduce the smoke also adding that some people were too touchy about smoke, and that more factories and more smoke were what La Crosse needed.

Quick Action Follows.

Possibly this was interpreted as a slap at the bank. At any rate, today Mr. Barber was served with a complaint and summons in a suit asking that he be perpetually enjoined from smoking—with his smoke-stack—and for damages in the sum of $500, the Batavian bank being the complainant.

Mr. Barber declares he will not hire a lawyer or spend a dollar to defend the suit. He says he will appear personally but will let the court do as it thinks right in the matter. In an interview today Mr. Barber said:

Will Not Retaliate

"Some people might be inclined to retaliate. I am going to stop the smoke as far as I can do so by judicious selection of coal. But I will not hire an attorney to fight this case. A retaliatory disposition would incline me to invoke the law against a big stockholder in the Batavian bank, a man who great stack emit more smoke daily than mine does in a month. But I will not bother Mr. Hirshheimer and his splendid, productive factory. I will not interfere with the activities of other great producing concerns whose stacks daily write "progress" and "prosperity" in soot upon the skies. More smoke to them, for they are the men whose smoke makes La Crosse. Aside from the fact that I

POPE MOTOR BOAT FACTORY MAY COME

ASKS BOARD OF TRADE FOR PROMPT PROPOSITION

OFFER TO SEND A MAN HERE

Fond du Lac Concern Which Makes Fine Line of Boats Seeking New Location for Plant

Secretary A. A. Bentley has receved a letter from the Pope Motor Boat Manufacturing company of Fond du Lac in reply to his inquiry concerning their reported desire to change their location, and the company asks for a prompt proposition from La Crosse, as they have several cities under consideration.

While the letter does not contain the direct information it is understood the company desires that $15,000 in stock be subscribed here, and that a suitable factory location near the river be provided. They offer to send a man here to negotiate the deal if a favorable reply is received from La Crosse, and Secretary Bentley expects to investigate the proposition to some extent before replying definitely.

It is believed that an up-to-date and hustling boat building company here could make lots of money in La Crosse and many thousands of dollars have been sent from here by purchasers to outside concerns in the past couple of years, and the boat "fever" is just taking hold of La Crosse. The Pope company is known as a reliable concern, and would make a valuable additon to the local list of factores.

BROKERAGE FIRM IN RECEIVER'S HANDS

DETROIT, Mich., July 18.—The brokerage firm of Cameron, Currie & Co. went into the hands of a receiver this morning. The firm is involved to the extent of $1,045,000, according to Judge Mandell, and has admitted business is not protecting orders with sufficient deposits of cash, as charged by Currie.

NEGRO VOTE IS BALANCE OF POWER

DON FARNSWORTH WILL ORGANIZE THE COLORED VOTE

CONFERS WITH BRYAN TODAY

Negroes North of Mason and Dixon Line Will be Marshalled for the Democratic Ticket

LINCOLN, Neb., July 18.—Don Farnsworth, head of the banking house of Farnsworth, Billings & Co., Chicago, and one of the most influential democrats of Illinois, has been selected by democracy leaders to organize the negro vote in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois for Bryan. He arrived today and at once proceeded to Fairview, where he was closeted with Bryan for some time. Farnsworth came direct from conferences with Clayton and Heflin of Alabama, Ollie James of Kentucky, and John E. Lamb of Indiana. He stated there is no doubt the negro vote of the middle west was to be organized against the republicans. He intimated this is one of the real purposes why Frank Hitchcock is hurrying westward to confer with his lieutenants. Farnsworth has made a close study of the disaffection of the negro republicans of the big state north of the Mason and Dixon line, and believes they nearly hold the balance of power at the coming election. He is known as an organizer that knows his business, and there is no question he will be a factor in the coming election if he can succeed in uniting the negro vote for his favorite candidates.

Bryan this afternoon held several conferences with returning delegations, and later received 200 students of the Fremont normal college who arrived on a special train

REBEL ARMY MARCHES ON CONSTANTINOPLE

VIENNA, July 18.—Thirty thousand rebels led by mutinous Turkish soldiers from various Macedonian garrisons, are marching against Constantinople in an effort to wrest the control of the Ottoman empire from Abdul Hamid, according to today's dispatches. Gen. Wolffe Pasha is mobilizing a large force at Salonica to intercept the mutineers who are marching from Monastir to Adranople. Disaffection among the populace is widespread.

BALLOONS READY.

ST. PAUL, July 18.—Five balloons are moored at Lexington Park this afternoon, preparatory to the start of the international balloon race. The weather is favorable.

SPOONER ADVISES INS. COMPANIES TO DEFY WISCONSIN

BRIEF SAYS THE LAW IS NOT CONSTITUTIONAL

THINKS THE LAW WILL FAIL

Former Badger Senator Says Law is Inoperative as to Companies That Left State

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 18.—"This is an assertion of legislative jurisdiction which cannot safely be submitted to until the courts of last resort shall have upheld it."

Upon this sentence, contained in a brief by former Senator John C. Spooner on the new Wisconsin insurance laws, may be predicated the future policy of the thirty-three life companies that have withdrawn from the state.

They will contest the forfeiture imposed by the laws for failure to file the reports called for by the statutes and demanded by the insurance commissioner, and they will dispute the jurisdiction of the Wisconsin legislature over them from the time they surrendered their licenses and ceased writing business in Wisconsin.

They will fight, and they will continue to fight until, as Senator Spooner says, the courts of last resort have declared the legislation to be valid.

Opinion by Spooner.

Senator Spooner, in an elaborate opinion rendered at the instance of the Mutual Life of New York, holds that section 1953n of the laws of 1907, which requires the filing of reports by companies having in force any policies in the state, does not subject companies "not doing businses in the state" on March 1, 1908, to the cumulative forfeitures provided by the succeeding sections.

He holds that the companies which withdrew prior to Jan. 1, 1908, rest under no legal obligation to file the report and statement prescribed, and are subject to no penalty imposed by any Wisconsin law for failure to do so.

He holds, furthermore, "that the legislature of Wisconsin is without constitutional power to regulate the conduct of life insurance by foreign life insurance companies not doing business in the state, although having in force policies issued or deliv-

The president referred the matter to the attorney general and it is to decide on its coure of action that the two are in conference.

PRONOUNCED HIS CASE INCURABLE

Whole Body Raw with Eczema—Life was Intolerable—Was Even Incased in Plaster—Discharged from Hospitals as Hopeless.

SUFFERED 14 YEARS CURED BY CUTICURA

"From the age of three months until fifteen years old, my son Owen's life was made intolerable by eczema in its worst form. He was all right until a red rash broke out on his forehead, but we were not alarmed at first. Very soon, however, the rash began to spread over his head and shoulders, and it caused him great discomfort. I took him to a doctor and tried half a dozen other treatments, all with the same result: no improvement at all. The disease gradually spread until nearly every part of his body was quite raw. We had to strap him down in bed, for he used to tear himself dreadfully in his sleep. The agony he went through is quite beyond words. No one thought we would rear him. The regimental doctor, a very clever man, pronounced the case hopeless; at least, he said the only hope was that he might, if he lived long enough, outgrow it to some extent. We had him in hospitals four times and he was pronounced one of the worst cases, if not the worst, ever admitted. From each he was discharged as incurable; in fact he got worse under the successive treatments. At one hospital they incased him in plaster, and this seemed to aggravate the soreness terribly. He looked so badly that no one liked to go near him and his life was a burden to him. We kept trying remedy after remedy, but we had got almost past hoping for a cure. Six months ago we purchased a set of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent Pills and persevered with them. The result was truly marvelous and to-day he is perfectly cured, his skin not having a blemish on it anywhere. EVERY PATRON BENEFITS

In nineteen Wisconsin towns and cities the Wisconsin Telephone Company had on June 1 a development exceeding 10 per cent. In other words, there was more than one telephone to every ten people. In practically every point reached by the company's lines, there is a steady growth in the number of its patrons. This means that every subscriber is able to reach more people by telephone and that the service is becoming more valuable to him every day.

The Wisconsin Company's system puts the telephone user in touch not only with the people of his home town but with those in all parts of the State. This is something which no telephone plant not connected with the Wisconsin Company's lines can do. Today 80 toll circuits center in Milwaukee and there are over 95,000 Bell telephones in use in the state, 30,000 of these being on lines of connecting companies. It is predicted that by the first of January next, there will be more than 100,000 Bell telephones in use in Wisconsin.

LIPTON IS STILL AFTER THE CUP

LONDON, July 18.—Sir Thomas Lipton is enthusiastic in his desire to have another try for the America's cup, and he talked with Sir Thomas Dewar concerning the prospects for another international yacht race. At the end of the conference Sir Thomas Lipton wrote out on the back of the program a statement of how a race could be brought about and what he is willing to do. This he gave to Sir Thomas Dewar. The statement follows:

"By the mutual agreement clause the New York Yacht Club can change the conditions from ninety feet load water line to the new measurement rules of their club adopted to prevent the exaggerated type of yacht that has recently developed from the unrestricted over-all measurement and flat section boats such as the Shamrock III. and the Reliance.

"Sir Thomas is now willing to challenge with a ninety footer, the biggest size allowable by the deed of gift, if the New York Yacht club want the largest size."

LEAGUE NOTES

Last Sunday's Rockford morning paper says: "It's too bad the way the Indians are going down. They will find the collar place warmed, for the Reds were there a long time and kept things stirring there for many days. Oshkosh failed to stay long there and Rockford is again in the so-called collar place."

Oshkosh police sent a rowdy to the court and it resulted in a fine of $20 and costs. The rowdy was instrumental in throwing rocks at the umpire and seriously injuring one of the players. With the La Crosse baseball secretary the police justice, woe be unto any rowdies who might put in an appearance here.

It appears as though Rockford would never forget taking two straight from Wausau, the leaders of the league. La rosse said nothing when they allowed Rockford to take a couple of games out of sympathy.

Vance is being called, by the Madisonians, the Rube Waddel of the state league.

THE NEED OF A SPECIALIST

It is an undisputed fact that in every community there are many cases of chronic diseases that are beyond the skill of regular practitioners, not because our home physicians are incompetent or unsuccessful, but because their time is wholly occupied in attending acute cases. That is the reason Dr. Turbin visits our city. He has treated thousands of cases in Wisconsin and by his unfailing success has established a reputation unequalled by any specialist in the state. His fame is world wide, and he is renowned for the many cures he has made where others failed.

Don't put off seeing the doctor, as it costs nothing to consult him and get a positive and candid description of your disease and learn the chance of a cure. You may rest assured of honorable treatment and positive relief, if the Doctor accepts your case for treatment.

His monthly visit to La Crosse will be Wednesday, July 22nd, at the Hotel La Crosse.

ECONOMY THE TRUE EMERGENCY LAW

"What yo' goin' t' do when th' rent comes 'round?"

In this frivolous bit of ragtime there is a text for a sermon which the American people would do well to heed. It is an odd fact that writers frequently cake-walk into the most serious affairs of humanity. "Many a true word is spoken in jest" and many a solemn fact is enunciated, many an obscure but perplexing problem is made specific, in the facetious "catch-phrasing" of jesters and songsters.

We read daily of the poverty of members of the wealthiest body politic on earth . Great parties are trying to legislate prosperity; the slogan of "the full dinner pail" has been heard, and its echo was a cry of derision when the party that propounded it was found panic stained in the road to business demoralization. We blame one party now, as we blamed other parties in the past, and political solons of all parties hasten to cover the billboards of publicity with new panaceas and cure-alls for the nation's financial ills.

"Emergency measures," these. How much better were no emergencies to arise. What chance for panics if not a citizen of the country ever felt the necessity for anxiously inquiring, "What yo' goin' t' do when th' rent comes 'round?" Ingersol once said the greatest need of this country was for "the rich to become more extravagant and the poor more economical." Supposing that economy were to supersede extravagance as the dominant characteristic of all people dependent upon their personal earnings for a living? Supposing there were to be developed a frugality—a conservatism, not stinginess—which resulted in every man and every woman laying aside a portion of the day's wages or the year's income? Supposing we gambled less, drank less, slept more nights, arose earlier mornings, bought more substantially and squandered less in frivolity? Supposing we were, as a nation, to adopt the motto, "A dollar for today, and a dollar for tomorrow?" Supposing we thought less of living fast and more of living well? Supposing we were to apply the anti-toxin of temperance to the germ of lavishness, the vaccine of modesty to the microbe of frivolity?

Supposing that every citizen, every day, were to save a portion of that day's product, what need would there be for the safety valve of "emergency" laws? What terrors would lurk in the term "panic?"

Economy is the long sought panacea; economy is the "missing link" between our wonderful productiveness and elusive prosperity. Economy will create this nation's stability, but economy cannot be decreed. We must teach it, breed it, live it. That we cannot legislate prosperity is not more indisputably true than that we cannot legislate frugality. Hasten the day when the bank book shall be every man's answer to the question:

"What yo' goin' t' do when th' rent comes 'round?"

A BOTHERSOME COMMENTARY.

Although it had the courage to stand pat and "prent it," the Milwaukee Free Press, Senator Stephenson's paper, must have been rather annoyed, if not "stumped," when some discerning reader sent it the following communication:

"To the Editor: Trusting your paper will concede the policy of allowing its subscribers, courteously and to the point, to take exceptions to matters appearing in your columns, the remarks of Senator Stephenson relative to the Vreeland-Aldrich currency bill as published in your paper of July 11, rather demand some attention.

"The senator says: 'This currency bill (meaning the Aldrich-Vreeland makeshift and humbug both) was an emergency measure. Conditions demanded it. The country was facing a desperate financial condition—factories closing, railroads at a standstill and all industry largely paralysed.'

"And yet the Dingley tariff was in full swing!

"Agan the senator says: 'I had conferences with the president and worked six weeks to get the word "railroad" stricken out . . . limiting it to municipal bonds.'

"But while the word 'railroad' was stricken out, railroad and any other securities, no matter how poor or windy they may be, were restored in conference committee as any intelligent reading of the bill as passed will disclose. The third paragraph of the first section of the bill reads: 'The national currency association herein provided shall have and exercise any and all powers necessary to carry out the purposes of this section, namely, to render available undre direction of th esecretary of the treasury as a basis for additional circulation, ANY securities, including commercial paper, held by a national banking association.'

"It surely becomes superfluous to argue further that the word 'any' here takes in all knds of securities, chattel mortgages, mining stock or railroad bond, that the secretary of the treasury may approve, in fact, it rests entirely and absolutely with him what securities may or may not pass. For instance, with an Oakes Ames as secretary of the treasury, 'Credit Mobilier' stock would pass as the basis for what the Free Press terms an 'honest dollar.'

"But it strikes a number of your practical readers and 'fair-minded' republicans that even silver coinage at 16 to 1 would stand the test of 'honesty' fully as well.

"And does it not strke Senator Stephenson's sound and practical business sense (with which the writer is thoroughly familiar since thirty years back) that the remedy proposed by Mr. Bryan, government insurance of bank deposits, would more efficiently stop the 'hoarding of money' than this diluting of its quality in greater quantity of, practically, 'wild-cat' currency?

"READER."

Bessemer, Mich., July 13.

There are five more days in which to advertise the Saengerfest, and The Tribune again urges citizens to participate earnestly in this work. The advertising committee has placed its stamp of approval on a series of post cards illustrated by Cartoonist M. J. Callahan and Artist Jule Hoff, and these are on sale throughout the city. This affords an inexpensive way in which citizens can cover the country with suggestions that attendance on the saengerfest affords a wonderful treat, and their receipt by people who may be unable to attend will be appreciated, as they may serve as pleasant souvenirs of the occasion. Supposing every man who has the success of this great enterprise at heart would send out a half dozen of these cards, would not this result in an increase of thousands of dollars in the revenues of the big saengerfest? The singers themselves would do well to set the example, and to say to their friends and acquaintances, "Get busy and send out souvenir post cards!" Dealers and individuals can procure the cards from Harry Taggart, secretary of the Merchants' Protective association, who has charge of their distribution. Ask dealers, and if your dealer cannot supply you, ask him WHY.

We sometimes have grasshopper hordes
That raid us over night,
And droughts and floods they come and go
To bring the harvest blight.
And politicians (out of power)
Call these opponents' tricks,
But every four years, regular,
We've the blight of politics.

Mr. Bryan invites Mr. Kern, in the event of their election, to share the White House with him. Were Mr. Taft to extend a like invitation to Mr. Sherman, we should expect the introduction of an emergency appropriation bill to provide funds for the enlargement of the White House.

Suppose we put a halfhitch on our dispositions.

THE QUEBEC TERCENTENARY CELEBRATION

Picture shows at upper left the monument erected to General Wolfe. Upper right a map of Quebec, showing the location of the Plains of Abraham, Wolfe monument and other places of historic interest. Below at left is shown a picture of General Wolfe, at the right Marquis de Montcalm.

QUEBEC, July 17.—On July 24 begins the tercentenary celebration which commemorates the founding of Quebec three hundred years ago this month. The preparations for this magnificent spectacle have been under way for months and it is confidently expected that the ceremonies will outclass anything of this nature ever attempted. The program is as follows:

July 24—Dedication of the battlefield. Military and naval review.

July 25—Review of the fleets.

July 26—Thanksgiving day. Roman Catholic service and mass on the Plains of Abraham, with beautiful music, followed by a service in the English cathedral.

July 27—Naval display ashore by 10,000 sailors. Representation of the bombardment of Quebec by the British fleet and army under Saunders and Wolfe respectively.

July 28—Children's day, daylight fireworks on the Plains of Abraham.

July 29—The Prince of Wales leaves the port.

July 22—The Prince of Wales will land at Quebec. He will be received by the governor general and will be presented with an address by the dominion parliament.

July 23—The scene of the landing of Champlain will be reconstituted and the old navigator will be shown arriving with his crew in a replica of his original ship, which is now being built.

Prince of Wales to Open Fete.

The Prince of Wales will formally open the fetes and a speech will be delivered by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The grand historical parade will afterward be reviewed and there will be a grand illumination of the fleet at night.

In historic interest Quebec almost rivals Boston among the cities of the New World and it excels the New England city in the fact that its historic sites are constantly in view and have not been obscured by later alterations. When Jacques Cartier ascended the St. Lawrence in 1535 he found the Indian town of Stadacona occupying part of the present site of Quebec and spent the winter in huts erected near the Dorchester bridge. On returning to France he carried with him the chief Donnacona, who unfortunately died in Europe. On his second visit, in 1541, Cartier wintered at Cap Rouge. An unsuccessful attempt at settlement was made by the Sieur de Roberval in 1549. The real founder of Quebec was Champlain, who in 1609 established a small post here, which gradually added agricultural settlers to the original fur traders.

It is just and fitting that this celebration should take place on the battlefield whereon the site of Quebec and Canada were won for the English from the French, the Plains of Abraham. In this battle General Wolfe won for the British the magnificent victory over Marquis de Montcalm. It is on these plains that the military review and pageant will take place. Among other features of historic interest on the Plains is the statue erected to General Wolfe, who died in this battle which won for England her greatest colonial possession. The historical significance of this battle while not directly in consideration in connection with the celebration, still presents the most important historical feature since the founding.

SPOTLIGHTS

MATINEE SUNDAY.

A large audience witnessed the first performance of "The Girl From California," by the Van Dyke and Eaton company at the La Crosse theater last night. This bill proves to be the strongest drama produced by the company during their run, those who have seen it once, want to see it again.

"Aamateur's" contest will be given after the last act tonight.

Two performances will be given Sunday, which will close the engagement in La Crosse for this season.

BRYAN ON THE PRESIDENCY.

But the presidency is the highest position in the world, and its occupant is an important factor in all national matters. If he is a devout believer in our theory of government, recognizes the constitutional distribution of powers, trusts thoroughly in the people and fully sympathizes with them in their aspirations and hopes, he has an opportunity to do a splendid work: he occupies a vantage ground from which he can exert a wholesome influence in favor of each forward movement.

The responsibilities of the office are so great that the occupant ought to be relieved of every personal ambition, save the ambition to prove worthy of the confidence of his countrymen; for this reason, he ought to enter the position without thought or prospect of a second term.

While the burdens of such an office are heavy, and while the labors of the office are exacting and exhausting, the field of service is large, and, measuring greatness by service, a president, by consecrating himself to the public weal, can make himself secure in the affections of his fellow citizens while he lives, and create for himself a permanent place in his nation's history.—W. J. Bryan in Collier's.

WATER POWER OF UNITED STATES.

The power of Niagara falls has been estimated at 7,000,000-horse power. A partial estimate places the available water power of the upper Mississippi and tributaries at 2,000,000-horse power, and the southern Appalchian district at 3,000,000-horse power. Both of these estimates can be greatly increased by including the use of regulation reservoirs and auxiliary steam plants. In the Rocky mountains and the far west there are immense water-power possibilities. All included, it is probable that the water power of the United States exceeds 30,000,000-horse power. With the construction of proper reservoirs it is believed that this amount can be increased to 150,000,000-horse power.—Popular Mechanics.

If You Read This

It will be to learn that the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or billousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung disease (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherry bark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes that has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous, harmful or habit-forming drugs and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful agent in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native, medicinal roots and is safe and reliable.

Henrietta and Louise, little maidens of 10 years, had for some time been rivals for the honors in room IV. Louise's mother and father had both been teaching—a great advantage in Henrietta's eyes. One day, upon being censured by her father for bringing home a report below Louise's she replied: "Yes, papa, but you must remember, Louise comes from a smart family."—Delineator.

THE IRON LORD

A Hitherto Unpublished Stocy of Immense Power.

By S. R. CROCKETT.

(Copyrighted.)

"It appears to me that you know your way about—here, that is," he said sharply, "but not so well in the world. I understand that you are the parish doctor's son; that you set up for a man, though you do nothing—and are only a burden on your father!"

Phil looked steadily at Mr. Ludovic Morris, gently unmoved, but with the slightest curve of contempt on his short upper lip. His face was always pale, and now no more than usual.

"You are right," he answered, shifting a little round in his chair so as to rest his eyes deliberately on the broad shoulders of the engineer, "Mr. Morris,, of the Pits, I think! Ah, I am right. Well, Mr. Morris, I am obliged to you for the interest you show in my affairs. My position, I admit, you state very truly. The alternative you are probably ignorant of—as ignorant as I am myself."

This aroused Vic Morris. He stood in the firelight, vehement and energetic. He gesticulated. He even raised his voice, so that he could be heard out on the road, forty rods away.

"What are you to do?" he cried. "Why, man, work—work—work! When I was half your age I was learning to run an engine in the daytime—out of school hours, that is—teaching in a night-school, feeding on the higher mathematics, till I dropped brow on my book with pure sleepiness. Well, why did I do it? So that today there is no place on the face of the earth where I could not make a livelihood."

"Ah!" said Phil very quietly, "I would that my lines had fallen to me in such pleasant places! But one must just do as one can. I have not been so fortunate as you, Mr. Morris. I have always had other people to consider."

"Your own idleness, you mean, Master Philip Calmont," cried Vic Morris, quite forgetting his manners. "You like the do-nothing life. You are content to live on the hooks of your father—to render him half-bankrupt, you and your brood, making him the talk of the place—"

At the first word of his father, Phil Calmont had risen, pale, slender, and very stern. What would have happened in the next half-minute cannot be imagined. For, of course, the lad was no match for Vic Morris, who could have crushed him between his hands. Tough it is doubtful whether, even in his own opinion, he could have vanquished him.

But just then the inner door swung back, the one which led from the little back lobby, which opened out upon the woods, the nearer shrubberies, and Dick Finnan's woodpile. Vida had entered quietly, without either of the men hearing her, and in a moment the fat was in the fire.

She was dressed in a plain gown of blue serge, which moulded her figure like some natural leaf-sheathing of the spring. It was, however, merely her "second best" dress—that which she put on in the weekday evenings. She motioned Vic to a seat. For a moment he did not obey—caught, as it were, in a loud, empty echo of his own words. He realized for the first time that he had been speaking in that quiet kitchen as he would have done in the galleries of the mine.

He sat down. Vida waited a little, still in the twilight, standing near the door by which she had entered, her foot tapping impatient and angrily. The firelight, having caught a nest of pineknots, blazed up, and while the flame lasted neither of the men could take his eyes off her.

At last she spoke.

"Mr. Morris," she said, "you permit yourself to storm in this house as you might at the horses in some stableyard. Is Dick Finnan under any obligations to you, that you assume such a right?"

"Certainly not!" said honest Vic, hanging his head.

"Or am I?"

"Still less," faltered Vic Morris; "the truth is that I ought to ask your pardon. And I do. Mr. Calmont and I were having a little discussion—politics, you know, Miss Bryan—and we may have goth rather warm."

"I only know, Mr. Morris, that you have no right to shout in this house so that you can be heard in the public road. And now, Phil, what have you to say?"

She turned upon Philip Calmont, who had acquired the conviction that she had heard every word—which conviction, nevertheless, he kept severely to himself.

"It is a true bill," he said lightly, continuing to stand up because Vida had not sat down. "Mr. Morris and I were discussing problems of political economy, with personal applications."

"How dare you tell me such a story, Philip Calmont!" cried Vida, taking a step nearer to him. "I heard every word. He grossly insulted your father and your family. If it had been me and mine, I—I should have had his blood!"

The words, reproduced instinctively from some six-penny romance, sobered the unliterary engineer. But Phil Calmont only laughed. It seemed to him an echo of the daily speech of the twins, Willie and Wilhelmina. They were always on the warpath, thirsting for somebody's blood.

"Phil Calmont," said Vida sternly, frowning upon his laughter, "I thought you had more sense. And you, Mr. Morris, be good enough to take your politics and your political economy outside, and do not either of you come back here till you have learned how to behave yourselves."

"I beg your pardon!" said Vic Morris, stiff as a poker.

"I beg your pardon!" said Phil, bowing with his accustomed grace, the straw hat in his hand bowing also and so low that Vida could see the light of the pine-knots shrining on his boyish curls. As he passed the woodbox he threw on the fire a double handful of firecones, as if he had been fulfilling automatically a long-accustomed duty.

Then the two men went out together.

CHAPTER XIV
The Making of a Man.

Old Dick was late at No. 2 that night. Even now he had not returned. The rain had ceased, and the wet gravel glistened as it crunched under their feet. Then came the compacted pine-needles of the Glebe End Avenue, that private road which Mr. Jacob Romer traversed twice each day in his carriage. They felt kindly under foot, and upon their surface even Vic's strong "K" boots fell silently, as on thick Oriental carpets.

Curiously enough, it was Phil Calmont who went first, alert to every sight and sound, without the least fear of the giant behind him, with whom he had cause to believe himself on bad terms. The big barn-owl he had christened Ma'achi passed across the glade with a soft woof of feathers, as if his wings had been made of white crape. In the crotches of the dwarf thorns and among the alders of the ha-ha ditches, blackbirds scolded the disturbers of the twilight, raging and scuffling along their branches, each trying to knock the other off.

Then the two men ranged up a little, as Vic's long stride told, and the narrow arch of greening trees opened out upon a telescopic view of Kirktown and the Incubus pits. First a ruddy glare, which was the blast furnaces over at the Dook Bank. Then a greenish "skarrow" shot pulsing through the russet light from the chemical works in the hollow beyond. All this was held and encircled by a sort of straw-coloured milky way, which was the general gas-light illumination of the town. But far away, beyond the whirling and reversing silhouettes of the gaunt winding-wheels and pithead fixtures of the Incubus Workings, a single beam pierced the night at intervals, clear as a star, but infinitely greater. It was the electric flash of the Wolf Skerry Lighthouse, beneath which, his eyes clad in the darkness of triple goggles, sat a certain red-headed Irishman, with two books before him—the Bible and "Charles O'Malley." And as at that moment he was thinking of his duties as a foster-father, he was perusing the former. Billy Bryan was specially fond of the account of Paul's voyage in the last chapters of the "Acts." And his verdict was: "True courage, that's what I call it. Good men, every one of them! Please the pigs, Billy, ye will never have to do the like, knocking about them seas with never a lighthouse marked on the chart, or a decent man to keep the cogs running true, all the way from Blackwall to Bombay—not to mention that place Putty Holy, which is no seaport that ever I heard of. But, all the same, the Castor and Pollux is a very tidy name for a barque, considering the times. I once sailed in her myself! Out o' South Shiel's it was, coastwise, and the devil's own brat of a captain! But well found, oh, nobody could say that the Castor and Pollux was ill found."

So, while Billy Bryan meditated, there, and the girl to whose support he contributed of his substance peered through the dim window-panes of the cottage, Ludovic Morris and Phil Calmont swung out of the black arch of the Glebe End entrance. They saw Mr. Romer's big iron gates, like a doubit blotch of denser darkness, on either side of them. They had never been shut since he took possession of the house.

"Well?" said Mr. Vic Morris.

"Well?" returned Mr. Phil Calmont.

"You have nothing to say to me?" It was the giant who spoke.

NOT AS HE THINKS

When a man has spent an evening calling on ladies they do not spend the first half hour, after he has gone, talking about him, as he imagines, but in picking up things after him. One man can throw more things out of place in an orderly house than a baby.—Atchison Globe.

It was an unb[illegible]spiration that led Billy Hear[illegible] the day of his repudiation of his political faith, to refer to Bill Bryan as a "political chameleon."

BRAKEMAN IS ROLLED BY CAR

Mr. Brighton, a brakeman on the Milwaukee road, was seriously injured in the Milwaukee yards Thursday evening, but he will probably recover from his injuries. He was rolled between two cars and was badly crushed about the hips, although no bones were broken.

Mr. Brighton came to La Crosse frm Minneapolis on a way freight and the accident occurred just as the train was pulling into the yards northwest of the North side staton. A car standing on the switch track in the west part of the yards stood so close to the main track that the cars were barely able to pass. Mr. Brghton was climbing the side of a car in his train, when he was struck by the projecting corner of the standing car and rolled between the two.

The engineer seeing that the train was just able to pass looked back in time to see the brakeman knocked from the train and brought the train to a stop. The injured man was brought to the depot, from where he was removed to the St. Francis hospital.

An examination showed that there were no bones broken, but the man was badly bruised and crushed through the hips. He was reported as resting easily yesterday morning. Mr. Brighton has a family at Lake City.

Of course a husband should tell his troubles to his wife. And she generally sees to it that he has plenty to tell.

PASSENGER TRAFFIC KEEPS ROADS BUSY

EXTRA TRAIN FOR SHRINERS ON LOCAL LINES

"Q" LAYS OFF BRAKEMEN

But Ten-hour Day Continues at the Shops and the Fall Business Will Probably Be Heavy

The local railroads are making special preparations to accommodate the Saengerfest visitors. The Milwaukee road will run special cars and it is thought that a special train will be run to accommodate the singers from the Twin cities. The Burlington will run all their trains local south of here as has been announced.

The regular business on the Burlington has fallen off lately, ten brakemen having been laid off this week. The shops have been working 10 hours a day in order to get the engines in shape for the fall rush, but the force at work is not as large as the force that was employed last fall, and as the business doesn't seem to pick up it looks as though the coming fall would be rather slack compared with last year.

The passenger traffic has taxed the roads to the limit during the past week owing to the Shriners' convention at St. Paul. A number of special trains are being run to take the returning Shriners back to their homes. Several specials have been run through to Chicago on the Milwaukee and one on the Burlington.

"But black is the color of night, mem-sahib, and yet you believe that when you die you go to heaven at once. Ah, well, Christians are strange people!"—From "The Indian Alps."

SPOONER ADVISES INS. COPANIES TO DEFY WISCONSIN

Purpose of Law.

To all who have followed the eventful aftermath of the reform insurance legislation enacted in Wisconsin a little more than a year ago, the importance of this opinion by the specially engaged counsel of the Mutual Life must be apparent. This legislation was passed not merely to regulate the conduct of companies underwriting the lives of Wisconsin citizens. It was destined also to give to the holders of policies already written the benefit of a publicity which should acquaint them with the condition and methods of the companies to which their premiums are being paid, no matter where they are located or where they are writing new business. Such was the purpose of section 1953n, which provided:

Every life insurance company doing business in this state or having in force any policies issued or delivered therein, shall annually furnish the report required by section 1954, and with such report, separately for its participating and non-participating business and its ordinary and industrial business, a statement exhibiting the gains and losses separately for its first year's business and for the total business of the company upon blanks prepared by the commissioner in substantially the form heretofore required. Where a separate account of any items required on such statement shall not be kept as to participating and non-participating business or ordinary and industrial business, of any company, such statement shall state what proportion of such items is apportioned to each kind of such business. Such companies shall also furnish such information in regard to said matters as the commissioner of insurance may require.

Penalties Provided.

The requirement of section 1954 is that every life company "doing business in the state" shall file with the commissioner on or before March 1 every year a statement showing the business and financial condition of the company and n addition thirty-five stipulated items.

It will be remembered that Commissioner Beedle has construed these provisions as applicable to the withdrawing companies as though they were still doing business in the state. He has specifically called for the reports, and in most instances they have not been forthcoming. If Senator Spooner's advice is followed they will not be furnished as ordered. And hanging over the heads of the companies failing to comply is the forfeiture clause of section 1954, which imposes a penalty of $500, with an additional $500 for every month until the statement is produced.

INVESTIGATION OF THOSE BABY FOODS

DR. H. W. WILEY AT HEAD OF MOVEMENT

TAKES PLACE AT EARLY DATE

Will Investigate the Nutritive Value of Various Foods for Infants and Invalids

WASHINGTON, July 18.—An investigation may be expected at an early date by the Bureau of Chemistry of the Department of Agriculture into the various foods for infants and invalids that are now so plentiful on the market. It is expected that Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief of the bureau, who has been the indefatigable enemy of adulterations of food products and who has got himself cordially hated in many quarters for his pains, will set such an inquiry in motion. No official announcement of such an investigation has been made but it is learned that one has been considered among leading officials of the department of agriculture.

To Investigate Nutritive Value.

The investigation, if made, will reach chiefly to the question of the nutritive value of these so-called foods. Have they or have they not the nutritive qualities that are advertised? In some cases, there is reason to believe they fall short materially of the specifications that are so glowingly set forth by their press agents. Infants' foods, for instances, in some cases are thought to fall far short of having the capacity of nutrition that is represented and to be less valuable for children than even many physicians are led to suppose. The highest commendation that can be bestowed on such foods is that they have all the qualities of milk but it appear some of them contain starch and are found to be bad in their effects on children. As to invalids' foods, a similar state of things prevails in some cases. Some of the foods that are represented as having all the qualities of meat juices appear to fall far short. It wil not do to impeach all the food preparations, of course, but Dr. Wiley is understood to feel that inquiry should be made in order to ascertain just what preparations are delinquent and what are up to the representations of manufacturers and agents.

It is pointed out that this is a question of no small importance. It would not be of such large importance if it was the layman only that was deceived. But there is reason to believe that physicians are sometimes led into mistakes as to the nutritive value of the foods they prescribe for infants or invalids. A food preparation that is not what it is supposed to be may mean the death of a weak child or it may cut short the existence of an invalid who is hovering on the verge of life and needs sustenance of absolutely the right sort to enable him to pull through.

"I think it highly important there should be an investigation into the department of agriculture, promi-food preparations for infants and invalids," said a high official of the nently connected with the enforcement of the pure food and drugs act. "I can conceive of nothing much worse than the misrepresentation of the nutritive value of a preparation of this sort. The wiring and lighting fixtures have been placed in the saengerfest auditorium as a finishing touch to the immense amount of work which had to be completed by today. HORSE DIES OF HEAT.

A horse driven by John Blumer dropped dead at the lump in the River park today, supposedly overcome by the heat.

Ingenious Johnnne.—Mother had a bright red apple, which she wished to give to the children, at the same time teaching the little brother a lesson in generosity. Johnnie had a peculiar fondness for apples. Calling him to her side, she said, "Now, dear, mama has a nice, rosy apple to give you, and she wants you to be generous." That word was not in Johnnie's vocabulary, so he said, "Mama, what do you mean by being generous?" "Oh, dear, that means you are to divide the apple into two parts, and give sister the larger." Johnnie was silent. Suddenly his face brightened, as he handed the apple again to his mother, saying, "Mama, give it to sister and tell her to be generous."

STEVEN ROSS GETS EVEN WITH A NEIGHBOR WOMAN

SHE COMPLAINED OF NOISE

Of His Postponed Fourth of July Celebration and Youngster Takes Odd Means of Getting Even

"Sweet is revenge, no matter what the cost," is evidently the motto of young Steven Ross of this city.

Yesterday young Ross happened to find his Fourth of Puly cannon and found that he had also carefully placed a good supply of powder. Of course he got out in the street and started to finish his celebration. The noise made by the explosions caused disturbance among the neighbors and one of them stepped to the telephone and called up the police. When the officer arrived he told the boy to "cut out" the shooting and then returned to the station. For a few hours everything was as quiet as "Sleepy Hollow" in that vicinity.

A little later in the day, however, a grocery wagon drove up and the driver, struggling under the weight of a sack of flour and a basket load of groceries, unloaded them at the home of Mr. John Ford. He came out and was just driving away when up came another with a larger assortment of good things. This was followed by a third and so on until there was a continuous stream of wagons going up the street. The woman became alarmed but inquiries and protest at the various grocery stores only developed the fact that "some one had called up and ordered them delivered there." Her efforts to stop the wagons from unloading were fruitless and she was again forced to take to the telephone and notify the police of the prank that had been played on her by some "malicious" person.

Men from the central station were dispatched to the scene of the "disorder" but for some time could find no clue to the perpetrator of the deed. The incident of the cannon, however and their natural "foxlike" ability of scenting where trouble started soon gave them one thing upon which to work. A partner of young Ross' was calle din by the officers and "squealed" on his chum.

SAYS RODENBERG TRIED TO KILL HER

Charging that Henry Rodenberg of the town of Bangor attempted to shoot her, Mrs. Tilda Halderson has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Rodenberg.

The arrest and legal proceedings are the result of a neighborhood "row" that has beeen going on for som tme. According to Mrs. Halderson, Rodenberg deliberately pointed a gun at her and fired in an attempt to shot her. The shots went wild and no one was injured.

"And did he play well?" "Well! My dear chap, he was simply immense. As he drove away from the hall two girls actually climbed on to the back of his carriage." "I suppose that's what the papers meant when they said that he quite carried his audience away."

SOCIETY

Despite the excessive heat there has been quite a little entertaining, outdoor functions prevailing. Myrick and Pettibone parks have been the scenes of many pleasant little gatherings, while bridge and five hundred parties, and informal coffees and thimble bees have been given in honor of the various strangers who have been tarrying in our midst.

On Being Interviewed

By one of our reporters recently Mr. Chas. Beyschlag, the Druggist, 503 Main St., said: A few days ago I made a trip to Viroqua with a friend of mine. Calling upon some of my drug friends, I came across a cigar that took my fancy greatly, in fact I thought it was a regular 10 center. I was surprised to learn that it was a cigar called the El-Ko, made from choice Havana and that rich Wisconsin tobacco, grown in the beautiful country surrounding the prosperous little city of Viroqua, and was retailed at 5 cents. I have seldom seen a 5c cigar of such refined quality and fragrance and on coming home, immediately put in an order for some. They have arrived and are now on sale, and so far have taken every smoker by storm. You'd be surprised what a trade I've worked up on them within that short time.

UNCLE SAM WAGES WAR ON RODENTS

PLAGUE OF MICE IN HUMBOLDT RIVER VALLEY

CROPS ARE ENTIRELY RUINED

Is Harder Job Than St. Patrick Had When He Drove Snakes Out of Ireland

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 18.—When St. Patrick drove the snakes out of Ireland he had no harder job than Uncle Sam when he undertook to clear the Humboldt River Valley, Nevada, of millions of field mice.

The plague of locusts that swept Egypt could not have been much more serious than this visitation of rodents with which the government has just successfully coped.

The United States geological survey, of which C. Hart Morrison is chief, is the particular branch of the government that dealt with the mice peril as it was felt in Nevada. By long odds, this was the most serious visitation of the sort known to this country. European countries have suffered serious invasions by mice and other rodents and different localities in the United States have suffered at times. In recent years, certain of the irrigated valleys of the west, where alfalfa is raised, have been peculiarly subject to attacks from hordes of mice of the common variety, known as meadow mice.

Crops Badly Damaged

About a year ago, in the summer, mice began to appear in the Humboldt Valley in large numbers and to increase rapidly. As one pair of mice will average a progeny of about 25 in a year, it can be imagined the population thickened at a rate that would give joy to a census enumerator. The crops were ruined. The yield of hay was greatly reduced. Not only were the stalks of the alfalfa destroyed but the roots were eaten. All root crops suffered. The potato crop was but one-third of a full yield and such as it was, was badly damaged. So bad did the plague become that in November last it was etimated there were 5,000 to 6,000 mice per acre over a stretch of 15,000 acres. In the summer the green food on the surface was the chief objective of their assaults. In the winter, the roots were given attention by the invaders. Orchards and shade trees were injured by girdling the bark from the roots and bases of the trunks.

Various Expedients Tried

The farmers of the region tried various expedients but in vain. They were not prepared for an invasion of 120,000,000 mice. They tried various poisons, especially phosphorus on wheat. This killed some of the mice but it also destroyed the birds and various animals.

The biological survey was called in to give aid last January. A young man, S. E. Piper, scientific assistant in the survey, was sent to the scene. When he arrived there, the ground on the farms covering many miles was literally honeycombed with the holes burrowed by the rodent host. Various poisons were tried and finally it was discovered the alfalfa hay to which strychnine had been applied was the best means of destruction in the winter season. Similarly, it has been found green alfalfa is the best substance to use with poison in the summer. From 85 to 95 per cent of the mice were destroyed at a cost of 65 cents an acre.

This means that about 200,000,000 mice were killed, the fields were harrowed and cultivated so as to destroy the burrows. It was estimated these holes or burrows numbered from 20,000 to 25,000 per acre.

A source of aid in ridding the valley of the mice plague were the birds. Up to that time, the farmers of Humboldt valley did not appreciate them. The crows, hawks, herons and gulls mobilized in the region of Humboldt valley by the thousand and moved down upon it. For months, the birds lived on mice but this did not suffice to put an end to the epidemic.

Cause is Matter of Dispute

Just what is the cause of such visitations is a matter of dispute. For one thing, it is said a succession of favorable seasons and good crops, especially alfalfa, tends to increase the number of mice. The breaking up of the irrigable country is said to tend to drive many mice out their homes and induce them to congregate in localities where the conditions are particularly favorable. The failure to give proper protection to birds that destroy mice adds to the other causes that are at work to bring about such invasions. The biological survey is studying the various causes and later an interesting report will appear on the mice hordes in the Humboldt valley, their extermination, and the causes leading up to the plague. It is doubtful if in all the romances of nature, imagined by the nature fictionists, there is a stranger story than this, of how 120,000,000 meadow mice made war on the farms of the Humboldt river country.

am nearer the complaining party's place of business than are these plants, there seems no reason which I can analyze why I should have been picked out. Stokers in my plant are impossible. SOLDIERS PATROL MINING DISTRICT

FOLLOWING FIGHT OF DEPUTIES AND MINERS

SHOT AT STRIKEBREAKERS

Gatling Guns Have Been Sent to the Scene in Anticipation of Further Serious Trouble

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 18. — State troops are today patrolling the whole Adamsville mining region, following the battle between the deputies and the striking miners in Jefferson, in which Deputy Robert Gardner was fatally wounded, and a dozen miners shot. A trainload with strikebreakers was caught on an open switch and the men were threatened with death if they proceeded. When they insisted, the miners riddled the train, wounding Gardner and some strikebreakers. The deputies guarding the train returned the fire. Reports of a serious battle in Bloosburg were received today. In anticipation of further dangerous outbreaks gatling guns and ammunition have arrived here from Montgomery and are being held in readiness. Troops are being rushed to the scene. Governor Comer placed the entire military force of the state at the disposal of Sheriff Higdon.

start election of delegates, and Ed. Kneen of Bangor, John F. Doherty, Paul W. Mahoney, Albert Roberge, C. L. Hood, William F. Wolfe, Peter Jollivette, J. B. Murray, Henry Walter, Chris J. Burns, John Mohr, Carl Michell, A. A. Bentley, E. Markel, Prof. A. H. Schubert, Edward Ginski, were the delegates chosen to attend the Milwaukee platform convention.

J. B. Murray made a motion that anw delegate who cannot attend be empowered to appoint a substitute. This was passed.

John Doherty made a motion that they have power to cast the vote for the entire body.

R. W. Davis made a motion that delegates be instructed for Aylward. Attorney W. F. Wolfe objected on the grounds that that would be opposed to Aylward's ideas. The motion was withdrawn.

Plan Campaign Fund

John F. Doherty was asked to speak. He spoke of the need of a campaign fund. Scheme to do this is to form a democratic club and get 1000 members in the county. These signers are to contribute $1.00 each towards raising the fund.

Best Chance Ever

He said he never thought that the democrats had such a good chance as at the coming election. He dwelt for some time on the cndidates, platform, etc., after which C. L. Hood delivered a short talk. The idea of John F. Doherty were corroborated by Mr. Hood. Mr. Hood tsarted the fund with a contribution og $5.00 and this was followed by others in rapid succession.

A motion was made by Wolfe that a committee to distribute cards among the delegates present be appointed and this was done.

Activity Necessary.

W. F. Wolfe urged the necessity of getting members of the club to help further the interests of the party. He stated that the conditions at present were the same as in other years when the democrats were victorious. Further in his address his reference to the ideal American, Bryan, brought applause.

Prof. Schubert spoke and told an experience in 1896, when, although he could not vote himself, he spent considerable time distributing literature because of his enthusiasm in the work. He urged the same spirit and energy in the present campaign to insure victory.

J. B. Murray was called upon to speak after Prof. Schubert.

The girl, much disturbed, was led to the bar. The foreman rose. "We find the defendant not guilty," he said. As the late prisoner was turning to leave court Judge Rosalsky called out:

The fashions are constantly changing in calling cards, except in the game of poker.

AMERICANS FINISH WEEK CLOSE 2ND

ENGLAND 45, AMERICA 41, BY ESTABLISHED SYSTEM

CONFIDENT OF NEXT WEEK

Events in Which t he Yankees are Strong Begin Monday and Victory Seems to be Assured

LONDON, July 18.—Scores in the Olympic games up to and including the discus throw today according to both the English and old recognized sytem were:

English system—England, 23; United States, 9; Sweden, 4; Norway, 2; Germany, 2; Canada, France, Belgium and Italy, 1 each.

Established sytem—England, 45; United States, 41; Sweden, 12; Norway, 4; Greese, 3; Canada, Australia, France and Finland, 1 each.

England was first today in the steeplechase, 200 meter swim, 5000 meters cycling, five mile running, and tug of wor, giving her five points according to her system. The United States won the Green style discus and Germany won the fancy diving. England's big gain came through winning first and second places in both the steeplechase and five mile flat running race, giving her sixteen points by the regular system of scoring.

The United States kept in the running by taking first and second places in the discus throw. Sheridan won the final with a fine throw of 124 feet, 8 inches. This is not up to his record, but was a good performance considering the slippery footing. Horr took second place. The work of J. A. Eizle, New York Athletic club, was not worthy of performance. He was crippled by a torn toe nail, and yet ran a hard race and by a beautiful sprint, managed to breast the tape at third.

The Yankees are in fine fettle at the conclusion of the day's card, for they finished the first week more nearly on a par with the English than they expected. Next week's program will be more nearly to their liking and they are full of confidence.

The Summaries

The 3,200 meter steeplechase final —Russell, of England, won; tme, 10:47 4-5; Robertson, of England, second; Eaisle, an American, was third.

The 200 meter breast stroke swim final—Holman, of England, won; tmie, 3:09 3-5; Hanson, of Sweden, second.

GIBBONS WORRIES OVER OUR MORALS

BALTIMORE, July 18.—While traveling from Baltimore to New York prior to his departure for Europe today, Cardinal Gibbons talked of the political and moral conditions in the United States and gave a remedy for the situation. Among other things he said: "I am much concerned over the politicians and the country. There seems to be such a general trend toward uprighteousness in the great mass of people in some respects, that thinking men must realize that the problem must be met without delay.

There is no politics without morality; there's no morality without religion, and without religion there's no God. The public is the only place to begin. There are many cunning little schemes being always devised by atheists, non-believers and non-Christians to put God out of the public schools. The authorities in every state should exclude atheists and non-Christians from any office authority."

"What is your plan?" was aked. "Segregate the public schools of the country. Let each denomination maintain its own schools. In politics today men will sell a vote for a dollar and a half. Corrupt political bosses lead men to vote either way they choose. Men are nominated and elected who are unfit. Thinking becomes subservient to obeying the orders of the boss."

"No matter who is elected, I don't fear for the country's welfare. I have perfect confidence in the people. Divorce laws should be a national issue and be revised by congress in such a manner as to stop wholesale divorce. No matter whether it was in the platforms or not it should be made a national issue."

A round trip fare of $1.30 has been secured, and it is expected a large party will go, as a general invitation to attend has been extended.

the impression that we were delegates returning from Denver and would want to deliver a keynote speech.

Sparta is wild over us. Harry Long and the chauffeur have formed a stockade to keep the ladies away from Thornbury, whose appetite for dinner has assumed such proportions that we fear he may make a mistake. If we can keep down the cannibalistic instinct until the dinner gong sounds, we hope to restore him to normal.

Sparta plans an exodus when the Saengerfest doors open, and there will be nothing left here but the "lid" when they all line up at the ticket office. The Democrat will emblazon the fame of the coming event hereabout, and all told we doubt if there will be anybody in Sparta to do the chores next week.

Leaving for Viroqua.

We are leaving here now for Viroqua, after having partaken of the delightful hospitality of the Lewis holuse. We will make Cashton tonight, but will hardly finish our proposed itinerary, owing to the delay caused by Thornbury's overbalancing corpulence this morning. Thornbury says, "I'm very sorry this has happened."

MOLTEN METAL IS HURLED IN DEATH DEALING VOLLEY

CHICAGO, Ill., July 18.—Two men were fatally, nearly a dozen others seriously burned, today in an explosion of molten metal at the blast furnace of the Wisconsin steel mills, in South Chicago. The dying are Stephen Manion, 39, upper part of body burned and scalded; Vincent Prolicki, 34, burned head and body. Both men were removed to the South Chicago hospital. The night shift was about to run metal into the moulds when the signal for "tapping" was given by the foreman. Manion and Prolicki ran a long poker into the funnel's mouth when with a roar that was heard for several blocks, the mass exploded, scattering the hedhot metal in all directions. As soon as the news of the explosion reached the outside scores of women and children, members of the families of the workers gathered at the gates and a panic ensued. Later when patrols and ambulance arrived the police had difficulty in restraining the women.

BIJOU A LEADING FEST ATTRACTION

One of the many attractions which have been secured for the visitors to the Saengerfest is the Bijou theater, which will open for the week with a Sunday matinee, closing for the season Saturday night. An extraordinarily fine program has been billed at this popular little theater, and the visitors will find it one of the most entertaining of the many amusements provided for them.

Among them, Rube Welsh, Kitty Frances & company, a comedy sketch of marked merit will delight the large and appreciative audiences which are expected. The Bijou has always been a popular amusement resort with the people of La Crosse and many will take this opportunity to see the last performance before the closng of the regular vaudeville season.

SHOOTS FOUR AND KILLS TWO PEOPLE

WILLIAM B. HILL KILLS WIFE AND SELF

FATALLY WOUNDS ANOTHER

In Insane Rage Milwaukee Man Shoots Aged Wife and Turns Gun on Would-be Interferers

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 18.—Crazed with anger, during a family quarrel, William B. Hill, civil war veteran, 409 Cedar street, shot and instantly killed his wife, fatally wounding Joseph Bittner, a laborer, and another unidentified man, then turned the gun on himself, blowing out his brains.

The wounded men were taken to the Emergency hospital, where every effort is being made to save their lives. The bodies of Hill and his wife are at the morgue.

Hill came to his home from the Soldiers' home, where he conducts a barber shop, and began an argument with his wife over his son.

The argument grew heated, and Hill drew a revolver, firing on his wife in her room on the second floor of the building. Hearing the shots Bittner, who is a laborer employed by the Pfister & Vogel Leather company rushed to the scene, only to be pursued by Hill, who shot him as he was running from the back porch.

Thoroughly frenzied by this time, Hill fired upon another man who was coming to the scene of the shooting, probably fatally wounding him.

A crowd began to gather, and seeing that he would be captured Hill placed the muzzle of his gun to his own temple and fired.

He died instantly, the entire upper half of his skull being blown off.

At the Emergency hospital little hope is held out for the wounded men, both of whom are said to be in a dying condition, though the unknown man may survive.

An informal program of responses, toasts, solos, choruses, orchestral numbers and declamations followed. Tomorrow the two big concert programs will be presented at the opera house at afternoon and evening sessions under the general direction of Ernest Weber, the fest director. Mrs. Millie Katendal Hancox of Chicago is the concert soloist for both programs. Upward of twenty German singing societies are represented in the contest. After Preliminary Hearing He is Released Under Bond—Charged With Arson on July 13

FOND DU LAC, Wis., July 18. — Isaac Rosenblatt, manager and part owner of the Fair store, one of the largest dry goods stores in Fond du Lac, was arrested on the charge of arson. It is alleged that he set fire to his store on the morning of July 13.

The Fair store is one of a string which are conducted by Geo. Ducker of Joliet, Ill. Early last Monday morning a fire broke out in the building. After this blaze was extinguished another one broke out.

THE SAENGERFEST UP TO LA CROSSE

PRESIDENT DOERFLINGER SAYS THE WORK IS DONE

HE THANKS THE PUBLIC

Says Officers Appreciate Loyal Support—Appeals for Gala Spirit Now

(By Wm. Doerflinger.)

The saengerfest is up to the people of La Crosse.

For nearly two years the promotion of this great enterprise has been given the unselfish support, not only of the German singing societies and German-Americans of La Crosse generally, but of the patriotic citizens of the community without regard to nativity.

When Judge Ray S. Reid, then secretary of the Board of Trade, wired the La Crosse singers at St. Paul many months ago to invite the 1908 saengerfest to La Crosse, he acted from patriotic motives, and I doubt not that many incidents following, over which he had no control, were painful to him.

History Is Known.

The history of this great movement needs no recapitulation. Indeed, in these last fast days, with the climax of a long and arduous campaign at hand, there is no time for resentment, or even regret, over obstructionary efforts the purpose and spirit of which it is difficult to analyze. The thing is done now. The obstacles have been overcome. A generous community has contributed and co-operated with us with splendid loyalty. The officers and committees have worked faithfully and intelligently, supported by public sentiment and the honest aid of the populace. Even as I write three members of the advertising committee are speeding from town to town about us, putting in the finishing touches to their great work. The citizens, as evidence at hand shows, have helped to advertise, and were I to make a last request upon their generosity, it would be to suggest that during the few remaining days they avail themselves of the opportunity to scatter official postcards broadcast wherever they have acquaintances or a mailing list. The present condition is like the conclusion of a political campaign. The speeches are made, the platforms are in the hands of the voters, the last word has been said, and we are waiting for the returns.

Thanks the Public.

It is up to La Crosse. Attendance, a fine spirit of patriotism that shall make an air of welcome to pervade the community, the "glad hand" and the coloring of a gala affair—if the people who have stood so nobly by us in this greatest musical enterprise in the history of La Crosse will impart these last touches to the coming event, they will have finished magnificently what they started so courageously. On behalf of the officers and committees of the saengerfest, I desire to close this final word with an expresion of our gratification and admiration for a people that has shown it is equal to the greatest emergencies that may confront the modern metropolitan city.

VOLKFEST WILL BE ATTRACTIVE

BIG PICNIC AND REUNION OF THE SINGERS

COMMITTEE MAKES BIG PLANS

All of the Visiting Delegations Will Have Tents at the Fair Grounds on the Closing Day

The Saengerfest in itself is looked forward too by thousands as consisting of concerts and singng, and few of the many who will attend the fest here next week, outside of the members of the various societies, have given much attention to the great picnic and Volksfest that is planned for Sunday, the closing day of the fest. The Volksfest is more a new feature to the great Saengerfest and the last time the fest was held n La Crosse more attention was paid to the concerts than to the reunion.

The committee which has charge of the arrangements of the picnic for Sunday, has been busy for the past month arranging details for the event. The picnic will be held at the Interstate fair grounds, where tents are now being erected for the seventy societies that will be in attendance. The day will be spent in visiting among the great number of members and band concerts and other amusements are already planned, while the members of the committee say that they have several new and amusing surprises to spring on the visitors.

In the larger cities where several societies are represented it has been arranged to have a large tent and the societies will co-operate in order that they may be together. The tents will be arranged in streets and every society will be placed in order with their banners and flags floating from their tent.

In the morning the parade, which will be by no means a small feature of the day, will start from the auditorium and march around the business section of the city, after which they will march to the fair grounds. The parade will be composed of all the societies, about fifteen bands, and representatives from all the civic societies and the unions in the city.

ORCHESTRA IS FEST FEATURE

The Milwaukee Symphony orchestra, which will be one of the leading attractions at the Saengerfest, has a national reputation, and its coming here is looked forward to with pleasant anticipation. It is led by Hugo Bach, who is known all over the United States as a cello player and conductor. In the orchestra is also William Thieck, the celebrated cornet player who will render a cornet solo at the children's matinee on Saturday afternoon.

The orchestra will play at every concert, accompanying singers, and also playing concert selections. At the Friday evening concert Hugo Bach, the conductor of this noted aggregation of musicians, will play a cello solo. The orchestra will in all play about twenty selections in the five concerts. It will arrive in the city Thursday on the Chicago and Northwestern.

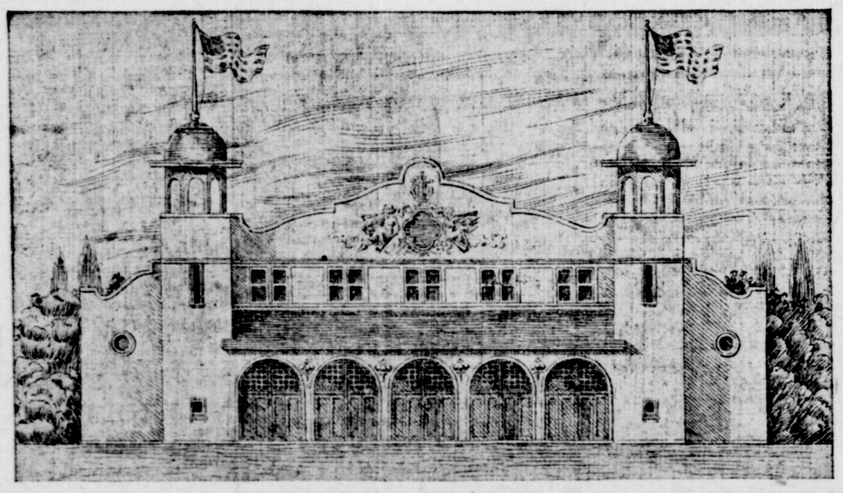

ANOTHER SAENGERFEST POSTCARD

The above post card, bearing a cartoon of Director John Dengler, of the saengerfest committee, is one of the official series put on sale by the saengerfest advertising committee. It was drawn by Cartoonist M. J. Callahan, and is one of a number of excellent souvenirs which every citizen should send to friends and acquaintances to create interest and promote attendance. On sale everywhere. Ask Harry Taggart.

SAENGERFEST AUDITORIUM, COMPLETED TODAY

Spacious temporary structure which will house the Northwestern Singers and the thousands of guests who will attend the five big concer as.

FIVE CONCERTS TO START ON THURSDAY

MAGNIFICNT ARRAY OF TALENT IS REPRESENTED

FIRST A RECEPTION CONCERT

Prominent Singers Will Be Represented in Others, While Last of Five Will Be Biggest

The first, or the reception concert, will be given on Thursday evening. In this concert none of the visiting societies will take part, only the local singers and the Symphony orchestra constituting the program. Mayor Anderson will deliver an address of welcome to the visitors to the Gateway City and President William Luening will receive the Flag of the Bund from Theo. G. Behrens, the president of the Bund. Miss Anna Hickish, Mr. J. L. Utermoehl and Miss Carrie Seyferth will sing at this concert.

The Friday afternoon concert will be one of the strongest on the program. The Milwaukee Symphony orchestra will render several selections and accompany the sngers in their songs. Wm. A. Andersch, Miss Anna Hickish, Miss Carrie Seyferth, and E. O. Forseth are among the afternoon's soloists.

At the Friday evening concert the leading attraction will be the singing of the "Jewel Song" from Faust by Miss Anna Hickish. Miss Estelle Solon, the celebrated Wisconsin singer, will at this concert make her first appearance at the La Crosse Saengerfest with a selection from Mendelssohn. Mr. William A. Andersch wll sing "Ich liebe dich," accompanied by the Milwaukee orchestra.

Saturday afternoon is the children's matinee concert. Miss Estell Solon appears in this concert and Mr. Hugo Bach, the conductor of the Symphony orchestra, will play a celo solo. The crowning feature will be the flag song by the 500 children which have for the last six weeks been under the instruction of Miss Barbara Russell. William Theick will please with a cornet solo and Miss Anna Hickish will sing two selections.

The last concert will be given on Saturday evening. This is undoubtedly the strongest concert of the five and has in it all the best singers of the week's program. The attendance at this concert will be larger than any of the preceding attendances and it is the opinion of those in charge that hundreds will have to be turned away from the auditorium's doors.

AUDITORIUM WILL SEAT 3,600 PEOPLE

It is estimated that the Saengerfest auditorium can comfortably accommodate 3,600 people. That number of chairs has already been placed in the building and Mr. Utermoehl thinks that in a pinch 500 more can be seated in the aisles and in the lobby. The gallery has a seating capacity of 1,000 and the ground floor will hold 2,600.

All the chairs for the auditorium were secured through the efforts of Mr. Langenbach of the Park store furniture department. They were purchased outright and will be used in the campaign rallies in the fall. It has been decided to sell the chairs after the election when they will no longer be of use and when the auditorium itself will be torn down.

Ushering System.

Twenty-six ushers under the charge of William Luening will conduct the people to their seats. No tickets will be reserved until Wednesday or Thursday and an announcement will then be made as to where they may be had. There will be no reserved seats at the first concert, which is given as a welcome to the visitors, and in which only local singers will take part. At the remaining four concerts, however, all seats will be reserved.

WILLIAM ANDERSCH BARITONE SOLOIST

ROCK ISLAND SINGER WILL BE HERE THIS MONTH

STUDIED AMONG MASTERS

Well Known Singer Said to be Among the Best Baritone Voices in the Northwest

William A. Andersch, a baritone soloist of the Northwestern Saengerfest, has recently returned from an extended period of stay in Europe, where he worked under the greatest teachers to be found in the musical center. And, although Mr. Andersch studied in Europe, he is one of few singers of American birth to gain distinction in this country, having been born in Grand Rapids, Mich., on August 10 of the year 1875. He is of German parentage and came of a family of musicians, his two brothers being fine pianists, and his mother the possessor of a phenominal voice, though she never sang professionally.

At an early age Mr. Andersch began public singing, having studied with teachers such as this country

WM. A. ANDERSCH

Baritone Soloist of the Saengerfest

affords. But not until he had the good fortune to be accepted as a pupil by the famous Professor August Iffert of Vienna, Austria-Hungary, did his voice develop its present absolute purity of intonation, beauty and finish.

Professor Iffert is one of the greatest teachers of singing, and one whose voice is moulded by that teacher after being accepted as a pupil never fails to finish the course an artist. Mr. Andersch states after years of observation in Vienna that "it is difficult to become, and still more difficult to remain, a pupil of this master."

During the last year of his stay in Vienna, which came to a close this spring, Mr. Andersch was honored by being appointed one of the assistants to Professor Iffert.

Mr. Andersch also studied the opera under Professor Alexander Zemlinsky, conductor at the Imperial opera of Vienna, and studied modern songs with Professor Richard Pahlen.

The artist, who now resides in Rock Island, Ill., was acknowledged as one of the best vocalists in Vienna. His selections for use during the saengerfest of this month are entirely from the German masters and will be rendered in German—the original text. To be a solo singer of songs requires infinitely more technique than does singing in opera or oratorio.

The songs to be sung by the artist

SPLENDID ACCOMMODATIONS FOR VISITORS

ALL HOTELS TO BE FULL

Secretary Utermoehl Has Followed Good System, and all Visiting Societies are Prepared For

The least of the difficulties in the management of the saengerfest will be the finding of rooming and boarding accommodations for the singers and visitors. Secretary Utermoehl is kept busy answering letters asking if accommodations can be had and assigning the different societies to different places. All the hotels of the city will be taxed to their utmost capacity and many people within six blocks of the auditorium have volunteered to room and board some of the visitors.

The singers and visitors will begin to arrive Tuesday morning although the majority of them will not come until Thursday. Mr. G. H. J. Kieck and wife, general secretary of the "Bund," will arrive Tuesday and the rest will straggle in between Tuesday and Thursday.

Four societies from Davenport, one from Muscatine and another from Moline will arrive some time Thursday on the steamer Silver Crescent. Word was received to this effect today by Secretary Utermoehl and the societies will be met at the levee by a band. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul singers come on special trains. All will be metat the depot and escorted to the general headquarters at the Germania hl where they will be given a lunch al assigned to their quarters.

They Needed Other Things—Like most minister's families, they were not extensively blessed with this world's goods. She, however, was the youngest of ten children until her father explained to her o fthe baby sister who had come in the night. "Well," she said, after due thought, "I 'spose it's all right, papa, but there's many things we needed worse."

MRS. BURKE COCHRAN AND HUSBAND

DENVER, July 15.—The arrival here during the convention of Mrs. Bourke Cochran, to those who are in a reminiscent state of mind recalls the romantic love affair of herself and America's premier orator. It will be remembered that Mr. Cochran wooed her around the world and finally won amid nature's grandeur in Arizona. Mrs. Cochran was the daughter of Henry Clay Ide, former governor of the Philippines, and in her youth she knew Robert Louis Stevenson as a personal friend. Today she is a simple, unaffected lady, cultivated and of the highest refinement and accomplishment.

Mrs. Cochran is the orator's third wife, but so popular was he with the matrimonially inclined that the announcement of his last decision was recived by designing mammas with regretful sighs.

These deepened into groans when it was learned that his wedding present to his bride was a check for $50,000 and a splendid necklace of matched pearls.

A pretty story is told of the friendship existing between Robert Lonis Stevenson and Annie Ide, now Mrs. Cochran.

The great writer wished to adopt her, but her father, Henry Clay Ide, then land commissioner in the Samoan islands, would not consent to this, so the famous novelist was forced to compromise on a daily visit from his famous protege. Annie Ide complained to him that she had not been treattd fairly in the matter of birthdays because hers fell on Christmas day and therefore she received only one set of presents and partook of only one feast, where other children had two.

Straightway the great genius was moved to compassion and bequeathed to her by formal deed his own birthday, November 13. She has kept it as her own ever since. This unique deed is a quaint and charming speci men of Stevenson at his best.

BIG AUDITORIUM IS BEAUTIFIED

The decorating of the mammoth Saengerfest building has been completed. One glance at the huge hall with its gaily decked walls and front convinces one of the ingenuity of its decorator, Mr. L. C. Noble, of Peoria, Ill. The task of making the bare walls of the building presentable is no ordinary job, and it required many days of careful planning on the part of Mr. Noble.

The inside of the hall is festooned with German and American flags and bunting and German shields. Streamers are hung from the apex of the conical center roof to all parts of the house. German shields are prominently placed on the sides of all the supporting columns of the hall, but the American colors, noticeably occupy the highest places. There are about twenty large arc lights to illuminate the interior, placed at about equal distances of 15 feet apart.

The front of the building is decorated in very much the same manner as the interior. German and American colors are gracefully draped from the top and the German national shield occupies a prominent place. Hundreds of electric lights will make the front a beautiful sight at night.

The work of wiring the building and of putting in all the electrical fixtures is under the management of Mr. Burford of the Pacific Electric company. Above all on the two flag staffs on the two towers which are placed one on each side of the front of the building wave two American flags showing that although the Fest is a German institution, pride in America stands foremost.

RAILROADS AID IN HAULING CROWDS

The railroad accommodations which have been made for the singers and visitors to the Saengerfest are excellent and so arranged that out of town visitors can make direct connections with all lines running into the city. The La Crosse and Southeastern is the only road that has granted excursion rates. Round trip tickets from Viroqua, Westby, Coon Valley, Chaseburg and Stoddard will be good for five days, from July 22nd to the 27th. It is expected that the traffic on this road will be tremendous as Mr. Utermoehl has received reports to the effect that thousands of people will arrive in La Crosse over this line.

Burlington Stops Limiteds.

Arrangements have been made with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road to stop the limited trains at all the small towns such as Genoa, Stoddard, Calvert, Victory and other small towns both north and south of the city.

The Southeastern Minnesota division of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul will run the passenger trains at the scheduled time and will also hitch passenger coaches to all freight trains coming into the city, making it possible for people to come to La Crosse at almost any time of the day over that road.

The transportation accommodations from the east have been found sufficient to accommodate all so that no changes were made in this direction.

Many Come on River.

It is expected that about one-third as many people will arrive by boat as by rail. Excursions will be run from all the river towns both above and below La Crosse at all days of the "Fest." The Rutledge and barge will run an excursion from Winona Friday and another from Trempealeau Saturday. Although both of these excursions are managed by the Park Store they are for the benefit of the Saengerfest. The price is very low for these trips costing only 25 cents both ways. It is expected that about 1,000 people will leave Winona for the "Fest City" and an equally large number is expected from Trempealeau. The Winona excursionists will be accompanied by the Winona military band.

SPECIAL MUSIC FOR SAENGERFEST

"'Mother hasn't spoken to father since' he refused to buy a Saengerfest march," and if father doesn't buy a Saengerfest march soon there will be war in the family. This phrase has been printed on cards which will be distributed about the city and will be worn in the hatbands and at the buttonholes of the men of La Crosse. The Saengerfest march was written about six weeks ago by Oscar Frey, the well known La Crosse musician and composer, and was published a few weeks ago. Since it was put out a large sale of copies has been reported. This piece is a tune for the occasion and will be played by all the bands combined at the Saengerfest. It will also be played at the opening of Como park in Minneapolis by the Minneapolis brass band, which shows that its reputation is not only local. The piece is not a difficult one to play and can be easily learned by the less experienced pianists. It is a splendid piece of music for a brass band and will be featured by Kreutz's orchestra during the summer.

The 'Varsity Girl is another selection which will be played by the Saengerfest bands and is also composed by a local pianist, Joseph Callaway. Mr. Callaway has already sold a large number of copies. The 'Varsity Girl has animation and is calculated to be a favorite with lovers of catchy college music. This march will also be played at the amusement resorts in the city and together with the Saengerfest march will be played as a feature by the bands at the fest.

MINERS IN BATTLE; ORDER OUT TROOPS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 18.—Three companies of state militia have been today ordered under arms and the guns of the Montgomery battery of artillery shipped here, in preparation for serious trouble with the striking miners in this district.

A pitched battle between a mixed company of about 100 men and the sheriff's deputies took place yesterday afternoon at Adamsville, when a train bearing strikebreakers was held up by the miners. One deputy is known to have been killed, fifteen strikebreakers wounded, and many strike sympathizers arrested. Gov. Comer with Sheriff Higdon made an automobile tour of the district this afternoon and immediately on his return the governor issued orders for the mobilization of troops.

Troop D of the state cavalry, which is in camp at Montgomery for target practice, left there this morning for Birmingham, and a detachment of militia under Maj. Ledbetter is en route to Adamsville, where the most danger of violence exists.

TITLES FOR NTGROES BARRED

WILMINGTON, Del., July 18.—The queerest ruling ever anded down in a Delaware tribunal was made today by Judge Cochran in the Wilmington municipal court. He directed that witnesses should not refer to negroes as "Mr.," "Mrs." or "Miss."

In order to enforce his decision he fined Mr. Chritsopher Brooks, colored, $5 and cost for contempt of court because he forgot himself after being warned again and called Mme. Sarah Archer, a colored woman, "Mrs. Archer."

Brooks was charged with breach of the peace, "Mrs. Archer" being the prosecuting witness. The violator of the court's queer ethics also was placed under a peace bond of $50.

OPERATOR TRANSCRIBING FROM A TAPE BEARING TELEPOST MESSAGE

NEW YORK CITY, July 17.—Telegrams at the rate of a thousand words a minute for one cent a word, without regard to distance—this is the promise held out by the new telegraph company, the Telepost.

Can it be done? The best answer to this question is that the rapid automatic system controlled by the Telepost company has been tested over and over again (notably by the Pennsylvania railroad for a period of a year), and that so far as rapidity of action is concerned the Delaney system can send 8,000 words a minute. This speed, however, in commercial operation is not likely to exceed one thousand words every sixty seconds.

But that is enough to so increase the capacity of the telegraph lines the Telepost company is now building, that it is said it can carry as much business on the four wires of its main trunks as the old companies carry on sixty-eight wires worked quadruplex.

DOG SAVES THIRTY LIVES.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 18.—Failing to awaken Mary, the housemaid, with his whines and barks, Jim, the house dog at the hotel of P. A. Finn, at 7336 Frankstown avenue, finally bit the plumb lower limb of Mary, which protruded from the side of the bed, and this awakened her to the knowledge that the house was on fire. With Jim and a baseball bat Mary became very busy, and hammering on the door of thirty sleeping boarders, she soon had them all n places of safety. It is thought that had the dog failed to awaken the girl, or someone, within five more minutes, that all in the house would have been destroyed by the fire.

$10,000,000 DEAL ON.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., July 18.—The Canadian Pacific is about to take over the steel mills of the Algoma Steel company in Canadian Soo and become independent of manufacturers in addition to purchasing the Algoma Central from the Lake Superior corporation, according to reliable reports here. The property involved n the deal represents an investment of $10,000,000 or more.

A gentleman who was no longer young, and who never was handsome, said to a child in presence of her parents: "Well, my dear, what do you think of me?" The little one made no reply, and the gentleman continued: "Well, you don't tell me. Why won't you?" Two little fat hands tucked the corners of a pinafore into her mouth, as she said archly, in a timid whisper: "'Cause I don't want to be whipped."—London Tit-Bits.

COOK'S BUSY CAMPAIGNING

Senatorial Candidate Circulated Picture of Armory He Donated, Causing Criticism

The officers and men of the La Crosse companies of the Third regiment are proud of the showing made at Camp Douglas this year. Captains Rawlinson and Wendling of Companies M and B are enthusiastic over the shooting of the Third and predict better work next year.

The men yesterday, owing to the rain that occurred on Thursday night, were forced to leave the camp without taking down t ehtents. This will be a help to the Second regiment which went into camp today.

One of the incidents of the week at Camp Douglas was the circulation of the campaign literature of Samuel A. Cook, senatorial candidate from Neenah, Wis. Mr. Cook had several enthusiastic supporters on the grounds and they were busy distributing his picture as well as the picture of the armory which he donated to Company I. The campaigning on the reservation met with some criticism as it has always been the attempt of the state to keep the Guard out of politics.

DEADWOOD, S. D., July 18. — When Knute Howland, master mechanic at the Golden Reward mill in the First ward, lost his balance while feeding the crusher, he plunged headlong into the big machine and was picked out with every rib broken. The crusher is used to reduce the size of the ore, and Howland had a narrow escape from being pulverrized. He is not believed to be internally injured.

DIES IN CARRIAGE.

LITTLE FALLS, Minn., July 18.—P. H. Newman, one of the best known horse dealers in the state, died from heart rouble while driving. He drove into the country to view some of his farm land in the early afternoon, and after returning was driving up town to purchase some new machinery for one of his farms when he suddenly succumbed while in his carriage. A widow and eight children survive.

WAS IN POOR HEALTH FOR YEARS

Ira W. Kelley, of Mansfield, Pa., writes: "I was in poor health for two years, suffering from kidney and bladder trouble, and spent considerable money consulting physicians without obtaining any marked benefit, but was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure, and I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of restoring the health of others." Refuse substitutes. O. T. Erhart.

BODY FOUND IN THE LAKE.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 18.—Floating in Lake Michigan, more than a mile from shore, the body of an unknown man, well dressed and attired in riding trousers and leggings, was found by the crew of a fishing tug. The body was taken by the lifesaving crew to the morgue where the efforts to identify it were unavailing.

PRISON FOR HORSESTEALER.

RHINELANDER, Wis., July 18.—E. F. Loomis was sentenced to three years in Waupun by Judge Silverthorne. Loomis was convicted of stealing seven horses from a tribe of Indians encamped on Willow Lake, Oneida county, a week ago.

The Right Car.

A traction company in a Tennessee town is till using cars bought for their line when it was constructed—some fifteen years ago. Naturally the shaky old cars cause much disgust to those who have to ride in them.

A merchant of the town was particularly vexed recently when the motorman ran his car half a block past him before stopping. As he ran to catch it he yelled out:

"Can't you even stop your blooming old freight train on the corner?"

"Ths is no freight train," replied the conductor; "it's a cattle car. Aboard!"—Judge.

"Oh, my" ,exclaimed the excited woman who had mislaid her husband. "I'm looking for a small man with one eye."

"Well, ma'am," replied the polite floor walker, "if he's a very small man you'd better use both eyes."—The Watchman.

The first year you get the benefit of training school without extra cost. Your pay begins when you enter the service—board, lodging, medical attendance if sick, and a $60 uniform outfit, all are free. Application should be made at once. If accepted a position is ready for you. You must be an able-bodied American citizen, over seventeen years old. COW GIVES BIRTH TO "TRIPLETS"

Edward Bonsack thinks he has the best cow in the country and thinks that this cow has the record beaten. About a month ago this partcular animal gave birth to three healthy calves. One was drowned while grazing near a creek one day, but the other two are living. Mr. Bonsack thinks he would have had three calves if this unfortunate incident had not occurred.

WART HOG AN UGLY ANIMAL

Kipling has told in one of his delightful stories his idea of how the elephant came by its trunk; and it might be equally interesting to know how the wart hog got its wart. The wart hog is the ugliest animal that ever drew breath. Compared to it the American porker is a dream of loveliness.

The vlak vaark, as this South African beast is called, can outrun a razorback, it snarls like a wolf, can climb a tree with the agility of a cat, and its backbone is sharp enough to split a raindrop. In its own country the natives eat it, but the only conditions under which a Christian would consider it anywhere near edible would be on the tail end of a polar expedition.

But to return to the warts. Some explorers have said they are to the vlak vaark what the hump is to the camel—that in hard times, when food is above par and scarce at that, this strange beast lives on its warts. Animal men say that when the ugly creature goes without food for any length of time the warts do grow smaller, but whether in dwindling away they are supplying nourishment to the body is another question. Others who claim to know—and their theory seems the saner—say that a chemical in the earth in that part of Africa which claims the wart hog as a native, is respensoble for the damage to the vlak vaark's countenance. As a matter of fact, these warts are always on the nose, which is the tool that the animal digs with, but the question arises—why don't the warts disappear when the hog is imported? It is probable that the question will never be solved, and the wart hog will ever remain an enigma.

Three of these strange animals will be seen in La Crosse netx Tuesday with Ringling Brothers' circus, and as every living thing about this big show is well fed, these vlak vaarks' warts are more than ordinarily numerous and varied in size. They are one of the features of the menagerie, being the only ones in America.

SUES ASSAILANT'S BOSS.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., July 18.—That an employer is responsible for the acts of his agent is the contention of J. Kroehocks, who has brought suit against James Lynch and Ben Blanchard to recover damages in the sum of $1,000 for a beating given him by Blanchard. Blanchard was employed by Lynch, who is in the feed business. He delivered some feed to Kroehock, and he and the latter got into an altercation over the payment of a bill. Kroehock claims he was badly worsted. He had Blanchard arrested and fined. The damage suit will be tried in district court.

A Newsy Letter

A wholesome scorn of physical ills is a good thing, according to the philosophy of a boy in the state school for dependent children, who wrote his father thus:

"Dear Papa: We children are having a good time here now. Mr. Sager broke his leg and can't work. We went on a picnic and it rained and we all got wet. Many children here are sick with mumps. Mr. Higgins fell off the wagon and broke his rib, but he can work a little. The man that is digging the deep well whipped us boys with a buggy whip because we threw sand in his machine, and made black and blue marks on us. Ernest cut his finger badly. We are all very happy."—Delineator.

UNLAWFUL TO SELL LIQUOR ON TRAINS IN MINNESOTA

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

Roads Are Liable to Prosecution in Every County—Custom Has Long Been Practiced

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 18.—It is unlawful for railway companies to sell liquor in their dining or buffet cars, a custom which has long been in practice. This is the opinion of the state attorney general's office, written by George W. Peterson, assistant attorney general. The question was raised by N. E. Peterson, county attorney, at Albert Lea.

The question of the right of the railways to sell liquor to their patrons has never before been presented to the attorney general, but no permission to conduct a retail business can be found in the law, and in the absence of that permission the act is declared unlawful. The decision will affect nearly every railway line in the state.

Mr. Peterson in his letter to the county attorney says that the sale of intoxicating liquor is not under cover of the licenses issued by municipal authorities. He states that the railways pay the United States government a tax, but the internal revenue tax is levied for revenue only, and its payment cannot be construed as in any way regulating nor legalizing the traffic, so the payment of this tax does not authorize the sale on trains, if it is otherwise unlawful.

"My opinion," continues Mr. Peterson, "is that the sale is unlawful, and that chapter 16 of the Laws of 1905 does not contemplate the sale of liquor on trains."

"If this opinion is sustained by the courts the railroads are liable to prosecution in every county through whch their dining cars run.

THE OLD GARDEN OF EDEN "GAG"

A queer find which has led to much wonder and discussion was made last week by G. J. Gordon of De Soto. Mr. Gordon found a tightly corked bottle containing a paper on which was written statements attempting to clear up the mysteries surrounding the deluge, the dimensions of the ark and the exact location of the Garden of Eden.

This is not the first find of the kind made near De Soto and it is supposed that these bottles are placed in the water by some religious fanatic.

STORM ON THE LAKE

MUSKEGON, Mich., July 18.—A fierce windstorm swept over Lake Michigan off the shore of Muskegon yesterday, and as a result a part of the pump house and the summer theater were washed into the lake. Huge waves rolled up on the beach and literally sucked the pump house away into the lake, seriously crippling the city water supply.

One Sufficient.

S. P. Orth, assistant United States district attorney, was the government representative at a naturalization hearing over in Toledo the other day.

The applicant for papers, a German, who ran mostly to mustache had answered all of the questions that had been put to hm satisfactorily.

"And do you believe in the principles of polygamy?" asked the judge in ponderous tones.

"Shure," said he German, for the word sounded as if it was something that he ought to be in favor of. Like as not it was something about the constitution.

"Do you know what polygamy means?" thundered the judge.

The applicant confessed that the word was a new one on him.

"Well, I'll make it plain to you," said the court sternly. "Can you get along with one wife?"

"Shure," replied the applicant, earnestly. "One's a plenty, the way prices are."—Toledo Blade.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S PROPOSED HUNTING TRIP

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 10.—Theodore Roosevelt is actively planning his campaign against the lions, hippopotamus, antelope, leopards and other big game in Africa. At the present time no definite information can be gained from the White house as to his line of travel, but it is generally known that this course will take him on the east side of Africa about as outlined in the map above. Roosevelt and his son, Kermit, will enter Africa at Cairo about the 1st of April. At Cairo they will get their supplies and will be met by guides, who will conduct the party on the trip. From Cairo they will proceed up the Nile, or to take it literally, down the Nile, for the Nile flows toward the interior, through British Egyptian Soudan to a point somewhere near Sobat. From there the party will take the Sobat river into Abyssinia and traverse a country very little known to white men. It is thought that the trip will lead through British East Africa, probably by way of Rudolf lake and the Keiro river to Lake Victoria Nyanza, which is the largest single body of fresh water in the world. Journeying south they will pass through Lake Tanganyika and Lake Nyanssa, with side journeys into British East Africa and German East Africa. From Lake Nyanssa they will continue to Mozambique channel, between Madagascar and East Africa, along the Zambezi river. One of the most beautiful places along the route is Lugard's Falls, in British East Africa. This is named after Explorer Lugard, who was the first white man to traverse this region. The entire journey will caver a distance of between 3,000 and 4,000 miles, by boat and on foot, through a country little traveled. No supplies of any nature will be purchased before Cairo is reached except arms and ammunition.

President Roosevelt is devoting much time and attention to the study of this part of the world and is calling to his aid men who have traveled through this district. Congressman W. W. Cocks, who recently returned from a trip up the Nile, called on the president a short time ago and gave him many points of advice which would be to his advantage. Press men and photographers are to be tabooed, as well as any unnecessary attempt at luxury. The president goes into this trip as an explorer and traveler.
